● ABOUT MYSELF

I am a PhD candidate in Biostatistics, Epidemiology, and Public Health at the University of Padova, with a strong background in statistical modeling, data analysis, and biomedical research. My academic and professional journey spans over a decade, including experience as a lecturer (I have been teaching Statistical Science courses for undergraduate students since 2013 at higher Ethiopian Universities), researcher, and consultant in statistical sciences. Currently, my work focuses on innovative methodologies, including machine learning and federated learning, to enhance clinical study analyses and public health research. I have actively participated in international conferences, published research on critical health topics, and contributed to capacity-building through teaching, research advising, and consultancy. Passionate about leveraging data-driven approaches, I aim to bridge the gap between advanced statistical techniques and real-world healthcare challenges.

● SKILLS

R software | SAS Software | REDCap | SPSS | STATA | EVIEWS | EPI INFO | MIWin

● OTHER SKILLS AND COMPETENCES

Competences not mentioned above.

- Proficient in statistical software, including R, SAS, SPSS, STATA, EVIEWS, REDCap, MIWin, and EPI INFO for data analysis and research.
- Skilled in data visualization, machine learning, and advanced statistical modeling techniques.
- Experienced in using Microsoft Office Suite (Word, Excel, PowerPoint) for documentation, reporting, and presentations.
- Knowledgeable in online survey tools and research data management systems.
- Comfortable with collaborative tools and platforms for academic research, including REDCap, LaTeX, and reference management software

● CREATIVE WORKS

- Passionate about writing and poetry, expressing ideas through creative and academic writing.
- Enjoy playing music, exploring artistic expression beyond research and academia.
- Enthusiastic about programming and data visualization, combining creativity with analytical thinking.
- Active in knowledge sharing, creating educational content and research materials to support learning and innovation.

● COMMUNICATION AND INTERPERSONAL SKILLS

TECHNICAL SKILLS AND COMPETENCES

- Strong ability to convey complex statistical concepts to diverse audiences, including students, researchers, and healthcare professionals.
- Experienced in mentoring and advising students and researchers on data analysis, research design, and statistical methodologies.
- Effective collaborator in interdisciplinary teams, fostering knowledge exchange in biostatistics, epidemiology, and public health research.
- Skilled in presenting research findings at international conferences and engaging in academic discussions.
- Adaptable to multicultural environments, with experience working across different institutions and collaborating with global research networks.

ORGANIZATIONAL SKILLS AND COMPETENCES

- Experienced in managing academic and research projects, ensuring timely completion and high-quality outcomes.
- Strong leadership skills in coordinating research teams, mentoring students, and facilitating interdisciplinary collaboration.
- Skilled in organizing and delivering training sessions, workshops, and seminars on statistical methodologies and research techniques.
- Adept at balancing multiple responsibilities, from teaching and research to consultancy and conference participation.
- Effective problem-solving and decision-making abilities in academic and research environments.

SOCIAL SKILLS AND COMPETENCES

- Strong team player with the ability to collaborate effectively in academic, research, and professional settings.
- Excellent adaptability to multicultural environments, gained through international collaborations and academic experiences.
- Open and engaging communicator, fostering positive relationships with colleagues, students, and research partners.
- Passionate about knowledge sharing and mentorship, supporting students and peers in their academic and professional growth.
- Empathetic and culturally aware, enabling productive interactions in diverse professional and educational environments.
